Drawings

The drawings are objected to as failing to comply with 37 CFR 1.84(p)(5) because they do not include the following reference sign(s) mentioned in the description: 44. Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The replacement sheet(s) should be labeled "Replacement Sheet" in the page header (as per 37 CFR 1.84(c)) so as not to obstruct any portion of the drawing figures. If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Specification

The specification is objected to as failing to provide proper antecedent basis for the claimed subject matter. See 37 CFR 1.75(d)(1) and MPEP § 608.01(o). Correction of the following is required: nowhere in the specification is it stated that the textile fabric has matter printed thereon.

Claim Objections

Claim 6 is objected to because of the following informalities: the claim ends in two periods. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless --

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claim 6 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by McGowen.

McGowan teaches in combination: a cane (Figs. 11-13) having a longitudinally extending shaft (50,52) and a handle portion (51) at an upper end thereof, and a cane cover (55-58), said cane cover comprising a piece of flexible sheet material, said piece of flexible sheet material being a tubular sheath, said tubular sheath extending over said longitudinally extending portion of said cane, and securement means (F') located at an upper end of said sheath for securing said sheath to said cane.

Claims 1-3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Muk Kim. Muk Kim teaches a cover (Fig. 1) comprising: a piece of a flexible sheet material (9 which is a print textile fabric); said piece of flexible sheet material having first and second longitudinally extending sides and first and second transversely extending sides such that said flexible sheet material has an overall rectangular configuration; said first and second longitudinally extending sides being secured together (via a coating) to thereby define a tubular sheath; said tubular sheath having an opening at either end thereof; and securement means (the coating) located all around the sheath (including the top thereof) for securing said sheath in position on a rod.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 4 and 5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Muk Kim in view of Simek. As stated above, Muk Kim teaches a cover/sheet member securable on a rod. For claims 4 and 5, Muk Kim fails to teach that the securing means is a hem/drawstring at the top portion thereof. Simek teaches the use of a hem/drawstring (9) to attach a sheet member to a rod/cane. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify the cover of Muk Kim by using an alternate type of securing means in combination with the sheet member, i.e. adding a hem/drawstring, such as the means taught by Simek, at the top thereof instead of the coating presently used, to provide a less permanent attachment means on the sheet member, so that the cover can be securely attached to the rod but still easily removable therefrom when desired.
